

IRENE GRECH

Sales Representative

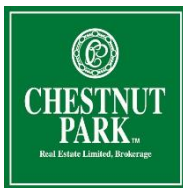

I have been in real estate for more than a decade and I know what it takes to buy and sell in today's market. I love what I do, and am dedicated to my work and my clients. My passion for this industry is what keeps my knowledge current, and my commitment unwavering.

During my years in the industry, I have worked alongside many established agents, and have had the opportunity to learn from some of the best in the business! I have spent most of my career at Chestnut Park Real Estate, one of the industry's most reputable firms. We pride ourselves on Trust, Integrity, Knowledge and Discretion. My collaborations over the years have led me to where I am now.

Born and raised in Toronto, I have seen neighbourhoods transition, communities develop, and streetscapes evolve. I am constantly studying the market to stay on top of this fast-paced industry and help guide my clients in making informed decisions. I have negotiated properties all over the city, for first-time home buyers to empty nesters and everything in between. Listening and responding to my clients' needs is the essence of good service, and everything I do serves this objective.

A home is most often the biggest investment you will make, and choosing the right agent is the first step to achieving your real estate dreams!
